480 NAMES OF COUNTIANS GO IN JURY WHEEL

Judge W. C. Sheely, Jury Commissioners Laura S. Freed and Roy D. Renner and their clerk, Mrs. Wilda B. Sheaffer, Friday afternoon completed compilation of 480 names of countians and placed them in the jury wheel for possible duty next year.

Selection of the names of men and women throughout the county who will be eligible to be drawn for juries next year began on Thursday with Sheriff Dawson Miller assisting in selection of potential veniremen.

The selection follows formal rules concerning the number to be drawn from each district. The numbers range from six each in such areas as Abbotstown, Bendersville, Bonneauville, Berwick to a high of 28 in Franklin Twp. and Gettysburg First Ward.

70 FROM GETTYSBURG

A total of 70 of the jurors are from Gettysburg, 28 from the First Ward and 21 each from the Second and Third Wards.

Littlestown's two wards provide 24, 12 from each ward, McSherrystown supplies 11 from each ward.

Once the names are selected they are typed and each name rolled on a separate strip of paper. The 480 strips are then placed in the jury wheel and it is sealed a number of times. When the wheel is sealed it is double locked and then placed in a vault until the regular lists of jurors for the various terms of court are drawn.

Those whose names were placed in the wheel follow:

DR. LAUBACH TO GIVE 2 TALKS

Dr. Frank Laubach, world famous missionary, author and lecturer and founder of the World Literacy Movement, will speak at St. James Lutheran Church next Thursday evening at 8:15 o'clock.

As founder and director of "Laubach Literacy Fund, Inc.," Dr. Laubach has visited 122 countries to promote reading and writing among the people. He and his coworkers have been instrumental in putting into writing for the first time the spoken languages and dialects of many tribes in those countries. It has been said that Dr. Laubach has taught more people to read than any other person in human history. Dr. Paul L. Reaser, St. James pastor, said in announcing the appearance here of Dr. Laubach.

As a missionary, Dr. Laubach worked among the Moros in the Philippine Islands. From there he wrote letters to his father which were later published in a small volume, "Letters of a Modern Mystic." It was there he discovered the technique of translating a language that had no written form into an alphabet which would enable the people to read.

ANNUAL DRIVE FOR CLOTHING IS MADE HERE

The annual Thanksgiving clothing drive sponsored by the Adams County Council of Churches is underway.

Each year the churches of the county cooperate in the gathering of good used clothing for shipment overseas. This program is carried out in cooperation with the Church World Service. All types of clothing are needed, especially for children.

It is stressed that the clothing should be in "good" condition. Shoes for ladies should not be of the open-toed type and should not have high heels. All shoes are to be tied together in pairs.

There is also a need for layettes for infants and all types of blankets and bedding.

All clothing collected in this area will be shipped to the Church World Service Depot, New Windsor, Md. The deadline for bringing clothing to the various pickup points will be December 4 and they will be collected on December 5. All items should be placed in cartons if possible.

Anyone having clothing and other items to give may bring them to any one of the following collection points: Abbotstown, St. John's Lutheran Church; New Oxford, the Methodist Church; York Springs, Methodist Church; Biglerville, St. Paul's Lutheran; Gettysburg, St. James Lutheran Church, and Fairfield, Zion Lutheran Church.

$400 Award For Sollenberger

National Park Superintendent Kittridge A. Wing (left) is shown presenting Samuel G. Sollenberger, assistant park superintendent, Friday with a superior performance award of $400 for his outstanding performance in lands administration over the last three years. In making the presentation Wing said Sollenberger had put in "a quality and quantity of work beyond the normal requirements of his job in giving expert attention to the details of land acquisitions for the battlefield. The duties in connection with negotiations, options, titles and deeds have been exacting and Mr. Sollenberger has been obligated to spend long hours of painstaking work at this task which is so important to the future of the battlefield." Mr. Sollenberger also has had charge of the farmland lease program of the park which involves administration of many rental agreements totaling 1,100 acres.

11-Year-Old Susan Hale Attends Class Through Medium Of An Executone

When Susan Hale, Arendtsville Sixth Grader, flips the switch on her bedside "Executone," a little brown box that looks like a radio amplifier, and hears her teacher ask "Are you there, Susan?" she is starting another day of school.

Susan, youngest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Hale, is recovering from an attack of rheumatic fever which prevented her return to classes in the Arendtsville Elementary School in September. She would have received home-bound instruction from her teachers if her parents had not been able to have the new two-way telephone system connected to the school.

The "Executone" is the only instrument of its kind in this section of Pennsylvania, and is so new that maintenance workers had difficulty installing it. It is an open line from the Hale home to the classroom about two blocks away. At the flip of the switch Susan is in the classroom, observing, by ear, the activities of her 29 fellow Sixth Graders.

SENSITIVE SYSTEM

Lewis Bosserman, elementary principal, explains that the system is so sensitive that Susan can hear a loud whisper in the rear of the room. The transmitter is placed on a wall near the front of the classroom to permit the teacher to conduct classes in a normal voice. The transmitter remains open throughout the day and Susan can ask questions and participate in class discussions at will.

"When I want to ask a question I signal by clicking my switch twice," Susan says. This method of "hand raising" is very effective, for the second click brings a response from the teacher, "What is it, Susan?"

The 11-year-old Susan has been confined to her bed since mid-July, when her illness was diagnosed as rheumatic fever. (Continued On Page 3)

Russia Whisks Alleged American Spy To London; Cites Kennedy "Concern"

MOSCOW (AP)—Prof. Federick Barghoorn, arrested in the Soviet Union as a spy, was reported to have left today by plane for London.

Barghoorn, whose release was announced earlier by Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, was reported by airport authorities to have left on a British plane on a scheduled flight to London. Gromyko said Barghoorn was being freed because of the "personal concern" of President Kennedy.

RUSHED TO RAMP

Barghoorn was accompanied by five or six plainclothesmen and the Soviet automobile carrying them drove right up to the ramp of the plane.

The shy, retiring, blonde professor was arrested around the end of October and accused of espionage. The reaction in America was so violent that Soviet officials appeared shocked. President Kennedy ordered postponement of negotiations for a two-year extension of the cultural agreements which were to have opened next Tuesday.

IS EXPELLED

GIVE VIEWS AS OBSERVER TO COUNCIL

Dr. Warren Quanbeck, professor of systematic theology at the Lutheran seminary, was one of four observers appointed by the Lutheran World Federation to attend sessions of the Ecumenical Council in the Vatican. Dr. Quanbeck, who is a visiting professor from the Luther Seminary in St. Paul, Minn., spent three weeks in the Vatican with Dr. George Lindbeck, Yale Divinity School.

The Lutheran World Federation has assigned at least one observer to the council sessions at all times. There were two Europeans and two Americans at the session attended by Dr. Quanbeck. The present session opened September 29 and will end December 6.

"Without the initiative of Pope John XXIII the council could not have progressed as rapidly or as far," Dr. Quanbeck said. "Difficulties in the way of unity are very great and all factors are aware of them. I see no human way of overcoming them in the near future," he added.

LENGTHY SCHEMA

He said that the schema on the church is lengthy and requires great and extensive discussions. "These things can not be resolved quickly, but require great thought and thorough discussion on the part of the 2,200 cardinals and bishops present at the council," he said.

Dr. Quanbeck stated he was impressed by the "extreme cordiality and generosity" of the Christian Unity Commission in accepting the observers. "The commission has gone out of its way to make the observers comfortable and to help them understand the council." The sessions are conducted in St. Peter's in Latin, and interpreters are provided for the groups of observers. In lieu of a modern acoustical system, the interpreters whisper the translations to the visitors, who cluster around in tight groups.

Dr. Quanbeck stated that "the Vatican leadership is apparent" in the sessions, and that those who have been members of the Curia for many years are most forceful in their views from the (Continued On Page 10)

Old Bell Installed In Tower Of Christ Chapel

Dedication of a historic 115-year-old bell recently installed in the tower of Christ Chapel at Gettysburg College will take place during the service in observance of the Lincoln Centennial to be held at 10:45 a.m. Sunday in the chapel.

Discovery of the bell on the college campus and its installation in Christ Chapel tower comes at an appropriate time for the observance, as the bell antedates the Civil War.

Origin of the bell is not definitely established, other than it was cast in 1848 in Philadelphia. How the bell got to the college campus is not known. It was found in a stable at the rear of the "White House," home of college presidents for many years, when the stable was torn down six years ago and the bell was stored under the grandstand.

TOWER NEEDED BELL

When the college chaplain, Rev. John W. Vannorsdall, indicated to President C. A. Hanson the desirability of having a bell in Christ Chapel tower, President Hanson approved the idea and suggested to F. Stanley Hoffman, business manager, that a bell be secured. Hoffman remembering the old bell under the grandstand suggested its use for this purpose.

Rex Maddox, superintendent of buildings and grounds, was assigned the job of reconditioning and placing the bell in the tower. The bell's clapper was missing, so a clapper was forged and attached. A framework to support the bell was erected in the tower by Maddox and his coworkers and the installation was completed last week. The bell is cast in bronze and weighs approximately 500 pounds.

Congressmen Discuss NATO Issues With Eisenhower

Most of the NATO countries are cool to the U. S. offer to provide nuclear lateral forces in Europe, Congressman Charles Chamberlain, Michigan Republican, told a reporter for The Gettysburg Times Friday afternoon following a two-hour meeting with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower who met with 13 members of the House of Representatives Task Force on NATO Unity in his offices here. He said that "Germany wants the program," but that the others fear U. S. domination in control of the nuclear warhead.

Congressman Albert H. Quile, Minnesota Republican, chairman of the 14-man committee, which is one of several Washington groups studying NATO policy, said his committee will release a statement Wednesday morning in Washington on recommendations for improving the climate within the 15-nation organization.

Quile said that Eisenhower's advice was sought by the committee to aid in correlating various developments concerning the nuclear issue and future trade policies with the Communists. He said his committee is one of several studying the NATO program in an effort to "establish greater faith and confidence with the other 14 nations of NATO."

SOUGHT IKE'S VIEWS

Inasmuch as Eisenhower was one of the original sponsors of NATO, the group sought his cooperation in "bringing into perspective" the various aspects of the organization's problems. Quile said "his advice was of tremendous help," but declined to reveal the nature of the general recommendations. Quile said that a subcommittee will prepare the statement for presentation at the request of the committee before Congress.

Quile said, "NATO was built on fear of the Soviet Union and it should be built on the goals and ideals of NATO." He accused, (Continued On Page 8)

WITNESS SAYS MURDER OFFER "STUNNED" HIM

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Sheldon Morris, glib former nightclub manager charged as an accessory in the Carol Thompson murder, testified Friday he was stunned when he heard ex-boxer Norman Mastrian offer $2,000 to two other men to murder a woman.

Morris, recalling names, dates and places without hesitation, told the jury at the murder trial of T. Eugene Thompson that Richard L. Sharp and Willard Ingram both had rejected the paid murder offer. He added, though, that he had seen a third man, Henry Butler, hand a German luger pistol to Mastrian.

Prosecutor William Randall earlier told the court the state would produce evidence that lawyer-churchman Thompson had hired Mastrian to find someone to kill Mrs. Thompson, insured for more than $1 million.

IMPORTANT WITNESS

Morris is regarded as one of the state's most important witnesses, providing a link between Thompson and Mastrian.

Randall said in his opening statement that four men were approached to carry out the slaying and that the fourth, Dick W. C. Anderson, took on the job and, for a fee of $2,500, fatally pistolwhipped and knifed the mother of four.

Morris identified Thompson in the courtroom as the man he had met at Mastrian's home, where Morris formerly lived. But he said he never sat in on any conversations between the two.

REPORTS TAXI TIPS

"Almost every time Mr. Mastrian had me drive him to St. Paul, it was to the Highland Park area," said Morris, also a one-time cab driver. Thompson's fashionable home where his attractive 34-year-old wife was slain is in that section.

Sharp, Ingram and Butler are held on burglary charges in connection with theft of the German pistol, recovered from a nearby swamp to which police said Morris led them after the killing.

Morris said that the day Mrs. Thompson was murdered, March 6, he and Mastrian had picked up a man in Morris's car. The witness said he had not known the man at the time but that the stranger "had a pillow case and the butt of a gun sticking out from his belt."

Court was recessed over the weekend with Morris still on the stand.

Red China Confident Of Close Ties With Cambodia

By CONRAD FINK

Associated Press Staff Writer TOKYO (AP) — Red China seems confident of making a major penetration in Southeast Asia despite costly U.S. attempts to defend that strategic area from communism.

The target is Cambodia, a nation next door to Laos, Thailand and South Viet Nam, where the United States has invested heavily in blood and money.

Peking broadcasts boasts that Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, has pledged close cooperation with Communist China.

SIHANOUK GRATEFUL Sihanouk has explained he is grateful for "disinterested" Chinese help at a time when so-called imperialist nations are threatening him. Peking broadcasts say, Almost daily, the radio describes "friendly and cordial" talks between Chinese and Cambodian officials.

If the Chinese are able to establish a base of operations in Cambodia, all Southeast Asia will be more seriously threatened.

Cambodia's long, ill-defined borders with its three neighbors are almost impossible to close to infiltrators. South Viet Nam claims Viet Cong guerrillas now use Cambodia as a base for raids across the border.

3 MAJOR ROADS

Three major roads run across Cambodia from the South Vietnamese capital of Saigon. Two end in Thailand, the other in Laos.

SENATE ACTION ENDANGERS ALL OVERSEAS AID

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

Associated Press Staff Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's $827,250,000 — cut in President Kennedy's foreign aid bill flashed a warning to the whole overseas assistance program, unless sharply curtailed and revised, may be on its way out.

The amendment — riddled $3,702,365,000 authorization measure — more sharply reduced than any since the foreign aid program started after World War II — cleared the Senate Friday by a 63-17 vote.

But the temper in Congress — and presumably around the country, judging from what senators say about their mail — is such that further cuts seem certain next week. Senate and House conferees meet then to adjust differences between the Senate bill and the $3,502,075,000 measure previously voted by the House.

And further reductions appear likely when Congress acts on the foreign aid appropriations measure which will provide the actual money for which the authorization bill simply sets ceilings.

AID ENDANGERED

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., who had the task of steering the bill to passage, said in an interview that the future of the whole program is in danger unless the Agency for International Development (AID) can make it more palatable to Congress next year.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said that "the present pattern of aid is no longer feasible and some new approach will have to be found for American assistance in the development of underdeveloped countries."

With growing protests from around the country against multibillion-dollar expenditures with prosperous Allies refusing to shoulder their share of the burden, Fulbright asserted, "our present course is no longer politically feasible."

LED BY DEMOCRATS

The revolt against the program drew support from both parties and was led by Democrats who turned a deaf ear to Kennedy's pleadings.

He told his news conference Thursday in evident exasperation that he had "tried to make it very clear that I cannot fulfill my responsibilities in the field of foreign policy without this program."

Friday, Kennedy had no comment.

The final Senate version cuts Kennedy's request for military aid from $1,405,000,000 to $1 billion; economic development loans from $1,060,000,000 to $950 million; supporting assistance to defense pact allies from $435 to $380 million; the President's contingency fund for emergencies from $300 to $175 million; the Alliance for Progress from $650 to $600 million; and development grants from $257 million to $225 million.

Final passage came after the Senate deferred a bitter row over grain sales to the Soviet bloc.

In recent months, he has shown signs of fear of getting caught up in the type of war that is drenching Viet Nam in blood.

In a newspaper article last September, Sihanouk expressed feeling that communism is ready to triumph in Viet Nam and the rest of what once was known as French Indochina.

PRINCE WORRIED

The prince appeared worried that Cambodia—about six million persons, 88,780 square miles—would be unable to stay afloat in the sea of crisis surrounding it. He complained that American policies were a key reason for the supposed Communist triumph.

"Our American friends are remarkable organizers, brilliant technicians and excellent soldiers," he wrote. "But their incontestable realism stops short of the realm of politics, where the attitude of the ostrich seems to them to conform best to their interests."

U. S. GENEROUS

Far from acting like an ostrich, the United States poured $366 million in economic and military aid into Cambodia between 1955 and June 30, this year. About $30 million was envisaged for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1964.

American military advisers are stationed in Cambodia and U.S. Air Force instructors train Cambodians to fly U.S. airplanes. Shipments of American planes were stepped up last year, apparently in reaction to Cambodia's threat to lean more heavily on the Soviet Union for military hardware.

But the Chinese have spared no effort to woo Sihanouk.

He was greeted by test center and National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials and immediately joined a motorcade for a swift tour.

STEEL FIRM TO GIVE LAND FOR CEMETERY

The Bethlehem Steel Co. will present a deed for five acres of land to the National Park Service at the Lincoln Fellowship luncheon in the Hotel Gettysburg Tuesday noon.

Kittridge A. Wing, National Park superintendent here, said Conrad L. Wirth, director of the National Park Service, anticipates being here to receive the deed.

The land to be presented, known locally as the "Homestead Property," borders the Taneytown Rd. adjacent to the west wall of the Gettysburg National Cemetery. It is a triangularly shaped plot extending to the rear of properties along Baltimore St. It is assessed at $16,000, indicating the value of the land is $64,000. For many years the property of the late Judge Samuel McC. Swope, it was sold to J. S. Little, Hanover, for $7,100 in settling the jurist's estate. Later, title to the land passed into the hands of Bethlehem Steel.

ENLARGE PLOT

The land will be used to enlarge the present cemetery.

James B. Robertson, director of community relations for Bethlehem Steel, and L. C. Rabold, assistant to the president of the corporation, will make the presentation.

The luncheon will precede the parade and program at the National Cemetery at which the 100th Anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address will be observed.

Former President Eisenhower and Governor Scrantom will speak.

He was graduated from Gettysburg College in 1920 and from the Lutheran Seminary in 1923 and was ordained June 24, 1923, by the Pittsburgh Lutheran Synod in First Lutheran Church, Butler.

The small brown box on the bookcase, above, allows Susan to communicate with the teacher and participate in the class discussions from her home. Miss Karen Lady (below) answers Susan from the classroom and is shown here explaining the home assignment to Susan, who had "left the classroom" during a class. (Times photo)

She was permitted to sit up in a chaise longue for the first time on Wednesday afternoon, and on Thursday was carried downstairs, where she attended a spelling class for an hour.

DOG IS ATTENTIVE

The Executone is portable and may be plugged into outlets in her bedroom or in the family room on the first floor. Her small terrier, Tuffy, also has been an attentive pupil, sitting with Susan before the Executone and listening as carefully as his mistress to the daily instructions from the school.

Susan's mother said they have not yet received the bill for installation of the system by the telephone company, but estimates that the monthly cost will be about $15. She said that the installation cost was reduced because it was not necessary to go beyond the local telephone exchange. The wire was taken directly from the Hale home to the school, reducing the cost of in-

Countians In Auto Crash In Carlisle

Two autos were heavily damaged and an occupant injured in a collision in Carlisle Thursday afternoon, Carlisle police reported.

An auto driven by John W. Salin, 66, Seymour, Conn., failed to stop at a red light, police said, and his car collided with an auto operated by Alta Mae Heberlig, Gardner R. 2. An occupant in the Heberlig car, Hazel Heberlig, Gardner R. 2, was taken to the Carlisle Hospital in the community ambulance.

Following the collision, the Heberlig car veered across the street onto the lawn of the First Lutheran Church before coming to a halt. Both cars were badly damaged.

stallation considerably. Mrs. Hale said that in many cases, particularly if the pupil lives in the country, the installation cost could be prohibitive for the system requires a private line between the classroom and the patient. The entire cost of the installation and monthly rental is borne by Susan's parents and is not reimbursable from the Department of Public Instruction.

Susan is quite happy about this system of obtaining an education, but she misses the daily contact with her friends. However she uses every opportunity to talk with them on the Executone, especially if she misses the homework assignment. She has been forced to give up her music lessons, junior choir activities and Girl Scouts.

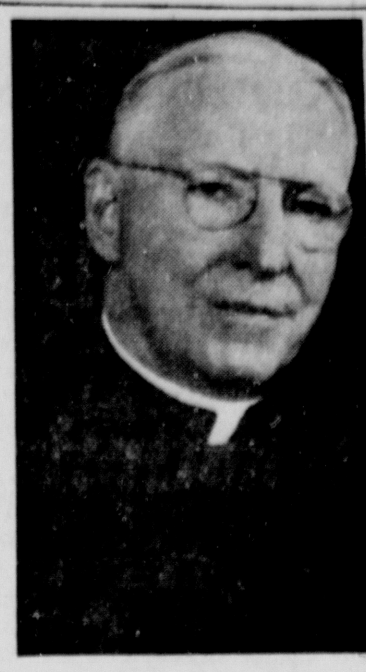

"I'm getting better grades this year than I got last year," she says proudly, and says she thinks it's because "I have to listen to every word carefully so that I don't miss anything." Her mother says that Susan has no distractions during the school day.

ALL DAY CLASS

"She begins the school day at 8:30 o'clock with the class and does not leave the Executone until the class is dismissed at 3:30." Visitors are not permitted in Susan's room during the school period.

The only classes Susan is unable to continue are art, music and physical education. She uses these periods for study and says she is able to do all her homework before her early bedtime.

Mrs. Lewis Bosserman is the Sixth Grade teacher for the morning sessions and Mr. Bosserman takes the afternoon classes. Mrs. Bosserman visits Susan Saturday afternoon each week to make certain she has understood assignments and class-work completely.

SCHOOL NURSE MEETING HELD

The November meeting of the school nurses of Adams County was held Wednesday afternoon in the Conewago Elementary School, Elm St., Hanover. Mrs. Catherine Groft is the school nurse at the host school. Mrs. Brenda Walker, president of the county nurses, introduced the speaker, Miss Mildred Coyle. Miss Coyle has been state supervisor of school nurses, Department of Public Instruction, since 1942.

Miss Coyle cautioned the nurses seeking the required certification as school nurses to accept information about the necessary certification only from accurate and qualified sources. Inappropriate advice has caused some nurses to take courses unacceptable to the Department of Public Instruction, she said.

She directed the attention of the group to the manual "Guide for School Nursing Services in Pennsylvania" which was published in November, 1962, by the Department of Health. It is an outline of the requirements and the limitations of the school health services and can be used by the nurses as a source of authority in their work in the schools.

Miss Coyle suggested that it would be of value to Adams County if the nurses serving its school districts would develop a county manual which would result in closer and perhaps more uniform working relationships between nurses in the county. It could also be used as a guide for new nurses, teachers and administrators.

Plans were completed for the annual Christmas dinner which replaces a formal December meeting.

Sends Painting Of Farm To President: A letter of appreciation from President and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the oil painting of the Eisenhower farm in Cumberland Twp. was received this morning by Leroy E. Smith. The 15 1/2 x 19 canvas was painted by Fred Kurtz and presented to the President by Smith, proprietor of S. S. Smith News Agency.

The President wrote: "Mrs. Eisenhower and I want to express our deep gratitude for your kindness in sending us Mr. Kurtz's painting of our farm. Not only do we appreciate it as a generous gift, but also as a constant reminder of one of our favorite places. We look forward to the day we can spend more time there. I convey my thanks to Mr. Frederick Kurtz for the fine job he did in painting this scene. We are delighted with it."

More Business Changes Near In Lincoln Square: Expansion of two local businesses is planned during the next few weeks. The Jack and Jill Shoppe, located at 8 Carlisle St., since its establishment nearly six years ago by Mrs. Glenn Guise, will move Monday to the storeroom formerly occupied by the Dunlop Tire Co., in the First National Bank Building on Lincoln Square. Mrs. Guise said today the new storeroom will give her establishment "at least five times" the space it formerly occupied. The tire shop has closed. The Rea and Derick store on Lincoln Square plans to extend into the former Acme store-room in the Masonic Building

Today's Talk

SELF-RELIANCE

It would be a good idea if all of us would take out the essays of Emerson, frequently, and turn to the one on self-reliance. It is a favorite of mine. I have read it again and again. It contains scores of ideas for sermons, and within it are any number of mottoes that could well outfit a life.

Take this one, for example: "Trust thyself: Every heart vibrates to that iron string." We are masters of our own fate. No one is so interested in our success as we ourselves. We are the most concerned. If we win the recognition we deserve, our own secret applause means more than the handclapping of millions.

To quote Emerson again, he says: "In every work of genius we recognize our own rejected thoughts! They come back to us with a certain alienated majesty."

Right now there is much talk about the youth of the land. Pro and con! Listen again to what Emerson said about youth, "Do not think the youth has no force because he can not speak to you and me. Hark! In the next room, who spoke so clear and emphatic? Good Heaven! it is he! It is that very lump of bashfulness and plegm which for weeks has done nothing but eat when you were by, that now rolls out these words like bell-strokes. It seems to know how to speak to his contemporaries. Bashful or bold, then, he will know how to make us seniors very unnecessary."

Arouse youth to its responsibility, and it will take care of its problems. The greatest indictment against all education is that it fails so miserably in teaching the one great essential in the building of a strong character — that of the privilege of assuming responsibility in the affairs of one's life and of one's time. That nation will always live, whose men remain proud to work, proud to assume their responsibility in the home and in the state, and proud to help another up.

Just Folks

THE MINISTER

A minister is one who seeks
To lift the people of his flock
A bit above the common stock
To lead them to the mountain peaks;
Where far horizons can be seen
And life is fresh and pure and clean.

His critics cry: "He works for hire
And preaches but to earn his pay!
Visits the sick from day to day
And money is his one desire."
If this be true, I'd ask his foes
Why such a thankless task he chooses?

Money in large amounts is paid
To business men and others who
Life's profitable task can do,
It is the one reward of trade,
If money was his only search
Why did he choose to serve the church?

There is an easier task to do:
An easier way to garner gold
Against the time when he is old
Than preaching truth to me and you.
We seek our fortunes, but he strives
To beautify our sordid lives.

Though some have fallen by the way
And some when tempted over much
Have let life's stains their garments touch,
I still give thanks to God today
That there are men who'll choose to be
His minister to you and me.

"within several weeks" according to its manager, David L. Baker. A building permit issued to Rea and Derick by Burgess William G. Weaver for reconstruction of the huge storeroom in the Masonic structure, calls for an expenditure of $7,000 in the renovation of the structure.

Baker said the additional storeroom would be connected with the present Rea and Derick store by an archway between the Masonic and Wills buildings. He added that present plans call for merely an expansion of the present store into the new storeroom, "thus giving us more room to properly display our merchandise and give the customers more room in moving about the store."

These updated programs are aimed at reducing natural resources to meet growing population needs, officials said.

SOCIETY FAILS TO RECOGNIZE FAMILY ILLS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Number One tragedy in society today is failure to recognize the significance of family breakdown, says the president of the Family Service Association of America.

Roy E. Morgan, taking office at today's closing session of the association's biennial meeting, declared that mental illness, for example, would be greatly reduced if a skilled social worker's help were obtained when signs of breakdown first appear.

More than 1,000 delegates attended. The association is the accrediting organization for 312 marriage and family counseling agencies throughout the United States and Canada.

"The place of the family service agency looms ever larger in this dynamic decade," said Morgan, executive vice president and general manager of radio station WILK, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

The population explosion alone will at least double the cases family service agencies will have to deal with, he predicted. "Our society and the nation face a tragic future if we neglect our most important resources — human resources," Morgan said.

He cited need for more trained personnel and funds in the family service field. Association projects, planned and underway, he said, include pilot programs in mental health and care of the aged, and studies of marriage problems, group therapy in parent-child relations, and family service complexities in metropolitan areas.

The association's 1956 meeting will be in Detroit.

Researchers Eat Luxury Meats

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—For 15 years, state researchers and a large pool of ready volunteers have been downing broiled steaks prime ribs, pork chops and roasts in the name of science.

The project, financed in part by federal grants, seeks a chemical formula for the kind of meat the housewife wants and the producer must market. In defining chemically what is tough or tender, juicy or dry, tasty or offensive, the researchers essentially are asking: What makes a piece of meat taste and smell the way it does?

Dr. F. E. Weatherage, agricultural biochemist, is directing the project, only one of its kind in the nation. The work has been done at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station and Ohio State University.

No other country compares with the U.S. in the weekly newspaper field. The weeklies in this nation reign supreme in number, size and quality. There are about 8,300 weeklies, varying in size from a few hundred to 15,000 subscribers. They have a combined circulation of over 21,000,000 and an estimated readership of 80,000,000.

Whitey Ford Signed As Player-Coach Of Yanks

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The complaint for years against Whitey Ford has been that he's too selfish. The brainy New York Yankee southpaw refuses to reveal any of his pitching secrets.

The time finally has come for baseball's most successful pitcher to impart some of his knowledge. As the new pitching coach of the Yankees, it will be his duty to work with and help younger members of the staff in the hope that some of his mound brilliance rubs off on them.

Ford, dubbed "Chairman of the Board," by catcher Elston Howard, gained his new title Friday. Whitey was given a "substantial" raise which boosted his dual-role salary to a whopping $60,000. He replaces Johnny Sain, who was given his unconditional release because of a disagreement on salary terms.

WANTED INCREASE

"We asked Sain to return at the same salary as last year," explained General Manager Ralph Houk. "He demanded an increase which we felt was unreasonable."

Sain, who had been Houk's pitching coach from the time Ralph succeeded Casey Stengel as manager in the winter of 1960, acknowledged he had asked for a $2,500 a year raise on a two-year contract.

Ford will continue to take his regular turn on the mound. He thinks he can do it successfully for two or three more years.

"I had a poor season in 1960," said the 35-year-old pitcher wistfully. "And I thought then I was near the end of my career. But my arm has felt fine the last three years and I think I can keep winning for a while yet."

HAS 2-7 MARK

Ford posted a 2-7 record in 1963, tops in the American League. He pitched the most innings, 269 1/3, and tied with teammate Ralph Terry for the most starts, 37. It was his second 20-plus game winning season. His overall record is 199-78 for a .718 percentage, tops in major league history for a pitcher with 100 or more victories.

Ford didn't think his new duties would prove too much of a burden on his pitching.

"If I thought so, I wouldn't have accepted," he said. "Besides, I believe a pitching coach's main work is down in spring training."

Ford's appointment rounds out the four-man coaching staff. Jimmy Gleeson was signed as first base coach last Wednesday and holdover coaches Frank Crosetti and Jim Hegan have returned signed contracts.

Ford was the second coach signed by Berra since he succeeded Houk as manager three weeks ago. Gleeson also was Yogi's choice.

GOLFER LUGS OXYGEN TANK

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Toronto's lanky Al Balding carried a two-stroke lead and tank of oxygen into today's third round of the Mexico Open Golf Tournament.

Balding, who complained of feeling groggy at times because of the mile-and-a-half high altitude of the La Hacienda course, sniffed oxygen from time to time enroute to his three-under-par second round 69 Friday.

That gave him a 36-hole total of 136 and gave him a two-stroke lead over Mexican Juan Neri, who shared the lead at the end of the first round.

Balding, the Canadian champion who had a first round 87, put together three birdies on the front nine, then settled down to par the incoming half of the 7,622-yard, par 72 layout.

A number of the other touring pros found the course to their liking and stayed well within striking range. Bob Gajda of Detroit, Ernie Vossler of Oklahoma City and Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., all shot second-round 69s. Gajda had a 139 going into today's round, Vossler and Sanders 140 each.

BUTLER BOWS IN THRILLING TITLE BATTLE

By DAVE LEHERR

West Mifflin North wrote a Cinderella finish to its Cinderella season Friday night, winning the coveted WPIAL-Class AA football championship for the first time in its young history.

The four-year-old school, underdog in more games than it wasn't this year, beat highly-touted Butler 12-6 in a thrilling playoff before a record paying crowd of 20,371 at Forbes Field.

It was Karl Tribelhorn, the Vikings' Swiss-born quarterback who turned the tide, firing an 11-yard touchdown pass to Bill Lukes for the winning score after West Mifflin North had recovered a Butler fumble.

OFTEN UNDERDOGS
The pass bounced off the hands of Butler defenders Bill Blaine and Terry Hanratty before Lukes grabbed it in the end zone.

Time and time again this season unbeaten West Mifflin North found itself in the role of underdog, only to come on for a victory.

The only mar on its otherwise perfect slate was an opening game tie with arch-rival Duquesne 7-7. But Duquesne is a Class A school, so the tie did not count against the Vikings in the league race.

The championship contest was the highlight of an abbreviated schedule as scholastic football draws to a close in Pennsylvania.

Memorial Tech edged Cathedral Prep 7-2 for the Erie City league championship in the only other major western Pennsylvania game.

Tunkhannock continued its run for northern division honors in the East Penn Conference, beating West Pittston, 28-13.

If the 10-0 Tigers can get by Clarks Summit on Thanksgiving they'll all but clinch a berth against southern division champion Minersville in the East Penn playoff game Dec. 7.

Sunbury bounced back from its stunning loss to Mount Carmel last week to wallop Bloomsburg 39-0, but the win won't go very far in easing the pain of losing an almost sure title in the East Penn Conference.

Another surprise was the showing of unheralded Ponce-Neeshaminy in Lower Bucks action. Neshaminy won, but by the slim margin of 21-20.

Danville, which once boasted a 17-game winning streak this season, ran into more rough weather, dropping its second game of the season to Coal Twp. 13-6.

DEAN CARL IS CHOICE IN RACE

NEW YORK (AP)—Paul Bongarzoni, a New Jersey trailer camp operator who picked up Dean Carl as a $10,000 claim a year ago, expects to cash in another hefty bundle on his bargain buy in the $75,000-added Gallant Fox Handicap at Aqueduct today.

Dean Carl, a 3-year-old son of County Delight, already has earned $118,750 in winning six races and finishing second three times in 18 starts. A week ago he captured the rich Roamer Handicap at Aqueduct and before that he copped the Lawrence Realization at the Big A and the Atlantic City Handicap.

Bongarzoni's meal-ticket is a 5-2 early morning choice over 11 rivals in the 1 1/4 miles Gallant Fox for 3-year-olds and up. If all go, the winner will collect $57,500 of the $87,000 gross.

Dean Carl, with Bobby Ussery in the saddle, has the top weight of 124 pounds. Smart, carrying 117 pounds, is the second choice at 4-1.

Takes 3-Stroke Lead In Tourney

OCEAN SPRINGS, Miss. (AP)—"The best round of golf I have ever played" has Shirley Engelhorn out front with a three-stroke lead today in the $15,600 Mary Mills Gulf Coast Invitational.

Shirley toured the difficult 6,224-yard, 35-36-71 Gulf Hills Country Club course Friday with a two-under-par 34-35-69 for her opening round.

She was long off the tees, sharp with her irons and her putting was accurate.

Kathy Whitworth was in second place with a one-over-par 72. Sybil Griffin was third with 37-36-73.

Billy Cannon Is Badly Injured

HOUSTON (AP)—It's not Billy Cannon's fault that the former All-America halfback and Heisman Trophy winner from Louisiana State is not in the lineup of the Houston Oilers these days.

That's what Coach Frank Ivy says. "There is no doubt about it, Billy's hurt" Ivy said Friday. "He's hurt and he can't play."

Cannon injured his achilles tendon in the second game of the season.

Ivy was asked to comment on published reports that Cannon's teammates resented him sitting on the sidelines.

PALMER HEADS FIRM TO MAKE GOLF CLUBS

LATROBE, Pa. (AP)—In a move that will probably curtail his tournament activity, Arnold Palmer officially entered the golf manufacturing field Friday.

Palmer presented his father, M. J. "Deke" Palmer, with the first set of golf clubs made by the Arnold Palmer Co. of Chattanooga, Tenn.

"We were officially in business as of today," Palmer said. "I'm president of the company and I plan to take a truly active part in the operation."

"I probably will not be playing in tournaments as much as in the past years. But I have been cutting down for sometime anyway so this won't be exactly new. I still plan to participate in all the major tournaments."

Palmer, like other leading pros, had been connected with one of several sporting goods manufacturers which produce golf equipment endorsed by the pro. He is believed to be the first pro since Ben Hogan to set up his own manufacturing company.

Palmer, golf's leading money winner, said he plans to do more than be an advisor to the firm and will design much of the equipment.

Palmer still makes his home in this Western Pennsylvania community where he learned to play golf from his father, a pro at the Latrobe Country Club.

"It's about time you pay me back for the first set of clubs I gave you," the elder Palmer cracked when given the clubs.

HORNETS TOP HOCKEY LOOP WITH 12 WINS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A year ago Pittsburgh was the worst team in the American Hockey League. The Hornets won only 20 games, lost 48 and tied four.

All that has changed. Right now the Hornets are the best team in the AHL with 12 victories against only three defeats and no ties.

Yves Locas slammed home three goals Friday night to lead the Hornets to their latest triumph, a 5-3 conquest of Cleveland. In Friday's other AHL game the Baltimore Clippers beat Springfield 5-2 and moved into a triple tie with Providence and Hershey for the lead in the Eastern Division.

FIRE TIE-BREAKER

The score was tied 2-2 at Cleveland when Locas slapped home the tie-breaker at 2:22 of the third period. Five minutes later he got his third goal to complete his best game of the season. He had scored only three goals in 12 previous games. The victory widened Pittsburgh's lead in the Western Division to eight points over Rochester.

Successive goals by Harry Pidhirny, George Konik and Brian Hextall midway of the third period sparked Baltimore to its victory over Springfield. A turnout of 7,027, the largest of the season in Baltimore, cheered as the Clippers won their fourth in five starts.

The Clippers travel to Pittsburgh tonight for one of four games scheduled. Buffalo is at Hershey, Rochester at Springfield and Quebec at Cleveland in the others.

LITTLE GIANT LOOMING FOR SUGAR BOWL

Memphis State, once called "little" but now an unbeaten little giant with giant-sized aspirations, goes after a major bowl bid tonight.

Sugar Bowl officials are expected to be in the stands at Memphis when the emerging Southern power, unbeaten in eight starts, takes a heavy favorite role into its game with Chattanooga.

Coach Billy (Spook) Murphy's Tennessee Tigers have failed to win only against mighty Mississippi, the nation's third-ranked team, and that one went to a scoreless tie.

FIRST AS POWER

"This is the first year Memphis State has been a power," a Sugar Bowl source said, "but the Sugar Bowl has no policy that would preclude an invitation to Memphis State. They are not being overlooked."

Mighty Ol' Miss, 6-0-1, for the season, is first in line for the host spot, which could set up a rematch of that 0-0 affair with Memphis State. Mississippi, however, risks that standing against tough old foe Tennessee, 3-4, at Memphis this afternoon.

An Ol' Miss upset with No. 7 Alabama, 9 Auburn, Georgia Tech and North Carolina State all very much in the running.

Alabama, 6-1, and Georgia Tech, 6-2, a pair of ancient rivals, met at Birmingham; Auburn, 6-1, was at Georgia, 4-3-1 and North Carolina State had a tough test lined up with Florida State.

TEXAS VS. TCU

The top game of the day remained Texas' attempt to retain its No. 1 national standing and remain the nation's only major unbeaten, untied team. The Longhorns, gunning for the host role in the Cotton Bowl, had a home game against Southwest Conference foe Texas Christian, a three-beaten team that long has served as a jinx to Texas.

Second-ranked Navy, led by the brilliant Roger Staubach, also could have its hands full. The Midships take their 7-1 record to Durham, N.C., to play Duke, 5-2-1, a team they have not beaten in nine years.

In the Big Ten, No. 4 Michigan State, No. 8 Illinois and Ohio State all are in the running for the title and a spot in the Rose Bowl. Michigan State played host to Notre Dame, Illinois was at tough Wisconsin and Ohio State at home to Northwestern.

OTHER GAMES

Washington, well on the way to securing the host spot in the Tournament of Roses, played UCLA.

No. 5 Oklahoma and No. 10 Nebraska, locked in the battle for the Big Eight crown and an Orange Bowl berth, had warm-up games before their head-to-head meeting a week from now.

Tough Missouri visited Oklahoma while Nebraska was heavily favored against Oklahoma State.

Pitt, ranked sixth on its 6-1 record, was at home to Army. Halfback Willie Brown broke open a tight aerial game with a 54-yard run in the third period and Southern California defeated Oregon State 28-22 in one of the two major games on Friday night's schedule. In the other Detroit edged Xavier of Ohio 6-0.

Stock Car Driver Averages 90 MPH

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Records fell at Augusta International Speedway Friday for the second straight day as Buck Baker of Charlotte, N.C. became the first stock car driver to average 90 miles per hour over the winding three-mile road course.

Baker drove a 133 Lee Petty Plymouth at the 90 m.p.h. average while qualifying for Sunday's 510-mile race. Baker shattered the day-old record of 88.75 m.p.h. set Thursday by Richard Petty, also driving a 1963 Plymouth prepared by his father.

MOUNTAINEERS AT LOWEST EBB FOR TECH GAME

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP)—West Virginia University's football team, weakened by injuries, went through final drills in preparation for the Southern Conference showdown with Virginia Tech this afternoon.

Coach Gene Corum said the Mountaineers were at the lowest ebb of the season.

Virginia Tech, for the fourth consecutive week, bypassed Friday practice. The Gobblers reported only one injury. Reserve halfback Dickie Kelly twisted ankle.

The winner of the VPI-WVU game today will have a head start toward winning the southern conference championship.

Both West Virginia and Virginia Tech are undefeated in conference play.

5 ARE INJURED

But injuries have cut deeply into the West Virginia lineup. Fullback Ron Colaw, guard Steve Kush, and Rich Juriga, linebacker Ernie Wheeler and safety man John Burnison all will be out with injuries.

Sophomore Fred Hauff is recovering from the flu and may be replaced by Milt Clegg.

If West Virginia kicks off, Dick Rader will start at left halfback, replacing Tom Yeater. If Tech kicks off, Steve Berszansky will replace Dick Leftridge at fullback.

Corum said he planned again to use halfback Glenn Holton at fullback.

A relatively small crowd of between 15,000 and 20,000 was expected to watch West Virginia try to contain highly regarded quarterback Bob Schweickert, among the leaders nationally in offense.

Fullback Sonny Utz also carries a great part of the tech offense. Schweickert and Utz together have accounted for a total of 1,750 yards in offense—only 17 yards fewer than the entire West Virginia team.

PERALTA WINS SPLIT RULING FRIDAY NIGHT

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—After whipping Wayne Thornton in a bruising 10-round Friday night Argentine Gregorio Peralta probably will have to beat the Californian again to get a title fight with light heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano.

The handsome, 28-year-old heavyweight king of Argentina chopped and poked his way to a split verdict over the light heavyweight contender from Fresno in a television thriller at Madison Square Garden.

Then Harry Markson, the director of boxing at the Garden, offered the two a rematch for Dec. 13. Both Peralta and Thornton agreed provided there is a written contract guaranteeing the winner a title fight with Pastrano.

PERALTA FAVORED

They'll start the dickering early next week.

Peralta was an 11-5 favorite as he ran his unbeaten streak to 44, including two draws. The dark-haired gaucha has lost only one fight, a knockout to Peruvian Mauro Mina in his first pro start. Since then it's come up roses.

With a big clique of Argentinians in the slim crowd of about 2,000 cheering him on, Peralta broke up a tight battle, fought mostly at close range, by sweeping the fifth, sixth, and seventh rounds. He was cut over the left eye in the eighth round and Thornton won that big to narrow the margin.

Judge Artie Aidala six rounds to four, and judge Tony Rossi, 6-3-1, voted for Peralta. Referee Art Mercante had Thornton in front 5-4-1. The AP card had Peralta ahead 6-3-1.

NO KNOCKDOWNS

There were no knockdowns but it was a sizzling, slugfests of the way.

"I thought I was robbed," said the blond Thornton, whose record now is 29-4-1. "I think those judges were swayed by the crowd. What have I got to do to win, kill the guy?"

Peralta, who outclassed Pastrano in a non-title bout last Sept. 20, weighed 178½. He said he could make the 175-pound light heavyweight limit without much trouble. Thornton weighed 179½. The Californian won, drew and lost in three fights with Pastrano.

CELTICS WIN 11TH OF 12

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
At the rate they are going the Boston Celtics may set a record for most victories in the National Basketball Association this season.

The Celts, aiming for a sixth straight NBA championship, made it 11 victories in their first 12 starts by walloping the New York Knicks 133-116 Friday night.

This is traveling at a .917 pace far in excess of the Celtics' .750 gait two years ago when they won 60 and lost 20 to set the record for most victories in a season. It is better, too, than their .787 in 1960 when they won 59 and lost only 16. The NBA schedule called for 75 games that season instead of the current 80.

Philadelphia came from 15 points back to defeat the Los Angeles Lakers 99-97 and the Detroit Pistons also came from behind to whip San Francisco 101-98 in Friday's other games.

Profit Margins Narrow For Egg Producers So Far In 1963, Piper Says

THOMAS E. PIPER
County Agent

With feed costs up and egg prices down slightly, egg producers have found profit margins narrow so far in 1963.

Thomas E. Piper

For example, feed costs per hundred for co-operators in the Pennsylvania State Poultry record project averaged nearly 7 per cent higher than in 1962. This was offset slightly by improved feed conversion. But feed cost per dozen was up 4 per cent for the first nine months of this year as compared to the same period in 1962.

To keep feed costs down during the coming year stock up on grain this fall while prices are at their lowest. If you have some grain of your own, it should probably be stored to use when corn prices go up next spring or summer.

Other costs have increased too. The USDA reports that taxes, interest, wages, seed, motor vehicles, and farm machinery all are running from two to seven per cent higher this year than last year.

LIMING HELPS SOILS
Most legumes, vegetables and field crops grow much better on well-limed soil than on acid soil. In many cases, liming the soil means the difference between success and failure. Under most conditions liming makes it possible to grow a good crop instead of a poor one.

Liming materials supply readily available calcium and magnesium. By their use the availability of soil phosphate and nitrogen is increased. As a result, plants on limed soil tend to have higher contents of these elements, all of which are essential to man and animals. Liming encourages the growth of legumes, which tend to be especially rich in protein, in calcium and phosphate, and in the minor elements that are essential to animals.

Lime influences the availability of other mineral elements and has far reaching effects on crop growth and yield. It has been clearly shown by experiments that soil phosphates are more available to plants in a pH range of 6 to 7.5. Pasture research shows that 1 lb. of phosphate produced more herbage at pH 6.1 than 3 lbs. did at pH 5.2. Corn, soybeans, small grains, grain sorghums, grasses and legumes have shown, in test after test, the world over, that an application of lime is necessary for maximum production.

CLEAN WITH LIVESTOCK
Most cornfields have at least five bushels of corn left on the ground after harvest. Often the amount is much more. The perfect cornpicker has not yet been invented.

Where downed corn or dropped ear loss is extremely heavy, hand picking may be profitable. But generally it is more practical to let livestock do the job. Corn left in the field often represents a significant loss.

Cattle do a good job of cleaning dropped ear corn. For shelled corn, pigs and sheep are best.

Pigs weighing about 75 pounds are ideal. While pigs are on the stalkfields, they will need plenty of water and a protein supplement. About a pound and a quarter of supplement per head daily is adequate.

Sows and gilts are good for cleaning cornfields too, but if there is much dropped corn, they may get too fat. Younger pigs or feeder cattle can clean up most of the corn before turning in sows and gilts.

FEEDER LAMBS TOO
Feeder cattle, like pigs, need additional protein and minerals when cleaning cornfields. Frequently, feeders are left in the stalkfields long after the dropped corn is consumed. When this happens, they lose weight unless additional feed is available.

Once most of the corn is picked up, beef cows make the best use of stalkfields. Minerals and salt should always be self-fed. Dry brood cows may be able to stay on stalkfields through much of the winter. However, when the weather definitely turns

Will Demonstrate New Chain Saw

The Adams County Fruit Packing and Distributing Co., Inc., Biglerville, announces that the revolutionary new Homelite XL-12 chain saw is now in stock.

The XL-12, the world's lightest, direct drive chain saw, weighs as little as 14 pounds, complete with bar and chain. It can slice through 12-inch logs in 10 seconds and fell trees up to three feet in diameter.

"Whether you're a professional pulpwood cutter or logger, or you just want to get wood for your fireplace, clear a campsite, do some landscaping or repair storm damage," a company official said, "this new Homelite XL-12 provides the lightest, easiest, most economical way to do it. The remarkable combination of light weight, power and performance of the XL-12 represents the greatest advance in chain saw design and construction in the last decade."

Anyone wishing to try the new Homelite XL-12 is invited to drop in at Adams County Fruit and Packing and Distributing Co., Inc., Biglerville, for a free, no obligation demonstration.

HOLSTEIN MEN WILL CONVEENE AT LANCASTER

bad and stalks become brown and brittle, about one-half a normal hay feeding plus the cornstalks should keep the cows in thrifty condition. That means about 10 pounds of hay per cow daily.

Feeder lambs can also be used to glean stalkfields. It is important to get lambs up to or near full feed before turning them into the stalks. Otherwise, they may overeat, even if the dropped corn is well scattered.

If you are short on feed or want to cut winter feed costs, put a temporary fence around the stalkfield, and be sure to provide adequate protein, minerals, and fresh water for any livestock used in gleaning.

Two American Hedgeholly Plants Presented To Warsaw

MRS. HELEN D. TUNISON
Home Economist

Two American hedgeholly plants and two blue and white lilacs soon will be growing at the birthplace of Frederic Chopin near Warsaw, Poland.

MRS. TUNISON

The shrubs are gifts of Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman who presented them recently to Polish Ambassador Edward Drozinski at a special ceremony in the patio of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The gift was inspired by Mrs. Freeman's recent visit to Zelazowa-Wola, birthplace of the noted Polish composer. Impressed by the well-kept grounds and gardens, Mrs. Freeman thought it appropriate to send to the estate a gift of shrubs from the United States to show the appreciation and high esteem which the American people hold for Frederic Chopin.

Both the holly and lilacs presented by the Freemans are of hardy stock and suitable to the Polish climate. The holly is a variety of the common American holly (ilex opaca), "hedgeholly." The lilacs are two of Mrs. Freeman's favorites, the President Lincoln and the Gertrude Leslie.

OKAY'S PINE OIL

Pine oil is an effective laundry disinfectant for use against disease-causing bacteria which may survive usual home laundering, the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture reports.

Other good disinfectants are liquid chlorine and quaternary and phenolic compounds.

All four of these disinfectants have been tested in the laboratory by textile bacteriologists of USDA's Agricultural Research Service and in household laundering by cooperating homemakers. Future research may reveal still other disinfectants that are equally effective.

The researchers began looking for laundry disinfectants after they found that normal home laundering methods did not kill all disease causing bacteria, especially when there was sickness in the family.

CHEAP DISINFECTANT

To get the USDA nod of approval, a laundry disinfectant must kill many kinds of bacteria and be reasonable in cost. Also it must not leave a residue that would be harmful to the skin, and

At 7 p.m. Friday evening the highlight of the convention will be the annual banquet. The principal speaker will be Maurice K. Goddard, state secretary of forests and waters, whom ill talk on "Pressures on Farm Land in Pennsylvania."

On Saturday, November 23, beginning at 11 o'clock the anniversary sale will be held in the Farm Show Building at Harrisburg.

it must not change the color or other properties of the fabric. Winter squash can add variety, color and vitamin A to family meals. With these qualities in its favor you may wish to freeze winter squash and have it to serve the year 'round.

Right now winter squash is in peak quality, in good supply and low in price. Because no frozen product can be better than the food you begin with, select a fully mature squash. The rind should be hard enough so you cannot push your thumbnail through it.

To prepare winter squash for freezing, wash and cut it into one-inch pieces. Remove seeds. Cook pieces until soft in boiling water, steam, or pressure cooker, or bake at 350 degrees. When cooked, scoop pulp from rind and mash or sieve.

To cool quickly, place pan containing squash in ice water and stir until pulp is cool. Never package while the vegetable is warm. When pulp is cool, package it in moisture-proof containers, allowing ½-inch head space. Seal and label containers, then put in freezer at once. Store at zero degrees or lower. For a top quality product, use frozen squash within seven to 12 months.

When ready to serve squash, place the frozen pulp in the top of a double boiler. Do not add water to the vegetable. Instead, you may use a little melted butter if squash seems dry.

2 JUDGES DENY MAKING DEALS WITH SCOLERI

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Two judges testified as witnesses Friday in a hearing on Anthony Scoleri's appeal of the death sentence and denied making deals with lawyers.

Michael von Mosezkiser, Scoleri's attorney, in his petition for appeal, contended that Judge Theodore L. Reimel, a member of the three-judge panel which imposed the death sentence, had promised to vote for life imprisonment. Judge Reimel, testifying under oath, denied making such a promise.

Another attorney representing Scoleri, former State Supreme Court Justice Thomas D. McBride, had drawn a parallel with the case of David Almeida, who was sentenced to life imprisonment for the 1947 slaying of a Philadelphia patrolman.

McBride had claimed that Judge Vincent A. Carroll had promised Almeida a life sentence in return for a plea of guilty, and that such practices were not uncommon. Judge Carroll also testified and denied making a deal.

U.S., York Corp. Reach Agreement

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—U.S. District Court says the federal government and York Corp. have reached an agreement on an antitrust suit, eliminating the need for a trial.

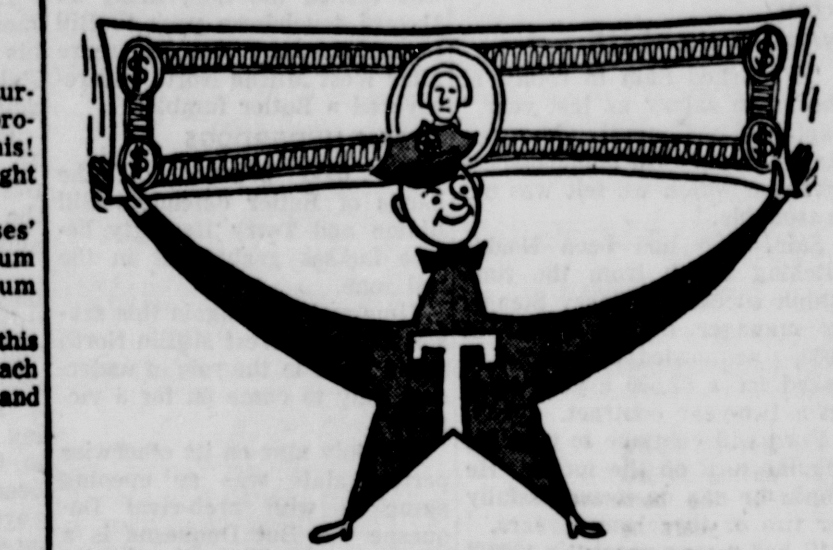

Under a stipulation filed Friday, York agreed not to restrain trade or impose bans on the sale of its air conditioning and refrigeration products. It also gave the government the right to withdraw from the agreement within 30 days.

The government had charged York, a subsidiary of the Borg Warner Corp., Chicago, with illegal restraint of trade and conspiracy with distributors in the sale of its products.

The government contended the effect of the alleged conspiracy was that the U.S., in its capacity of purchaser, was denied benefits of competition in buying York products needed for the defense program.

Scoleri was sentenced to death Oct. 23 for the slaying of Max Gordon, a South Philadelphia grocer.

At the conclusion of Friday's session, the court took under advisement Scoleri's appeal and his request for permission to withdraw his plea of guilty.

FATHER JAILED FOR TAKING TOT FROM HOSPITAL

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"Daddy, I love you."

Robert J. Moreland said those words, spoken by his 3-year-old daughter, made it all worth while.

Moreland, 30, is in jail on a child-stealing charge.

He's accused of taking the little girl, Sencie Ann, from the communicable disease ward at General Hospital where she was being treated for sleeping sickness.

Moreland said he took the child from the hospital because he was convinced she was not receiving proper care.

"She couldn't talk at all the night I carried her down the fire escape," he said.

"A week later, she said her first words. She said: 'Daddy I love you.' That was worth all the trouble."

Moreland, a construction worker, said he took the girl to La Mesa and later to Chula Vista where he saw that she had medical care.

"I gave her what she needed most—love," said Moreland.

Within two weeks, Moreland said, Sencie Ann was able to walk again and he took a job at a Chula Vista roofing plant.

Police arrested him and returned father and daughter to Los Angeles. The girl was put in Juvenile Hall while Moreland went to jail.

Moreland faces the child-stealing charge because Sencie Ann was made a ward of the court when her parents were divorced last December.

Friend of Cop Was A Federal Agent

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Trying to make a policeman's lot a happy one got Frank Iacabbo, 37, of Cranston, into trouble.

Iacabbo followed an old family custom and made some anisette from grain alcohol for home consumption. A visiting policeman was offered a drink by Iacabbo. It tasted so good, the policeman persuaded Iacabbo to sell two gallons to a friend, who turned out to be a federal agent.

In U.S. District Court Friday, Iacabbo pleaded guilty to possessing and selling nontaxed alcohol. The fine was $300 and a year's probation.

also, that "the U. S. has not treated the 14 other nations of NATO as coequals," resulting in the common impression of the member nations that "the U. S. is trying to dominate" the organization.

OPINIONS VARY

Chamberlain, who returned last weekend from a five-day meeting of the NATO parliamentary conference in Paris, said that while the Germans will accept the nuclear lateral force in Europe, the other countries feel that they should be permitted to spend their money to build their own defenses.

"The U. S. has been stressing multiple lateral nuclear forces and NATO partners do not see eye-to-eye on that," he added. "The NATO partners realize that under our laws the U. S. controls the warheads and that other nations do not have anything to say about it. They prefer to spend their money on the development and control of their own forces."

MILES APART

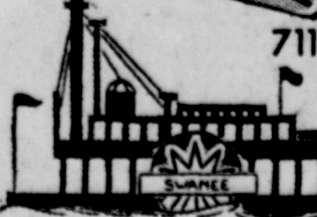

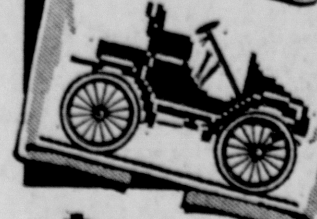

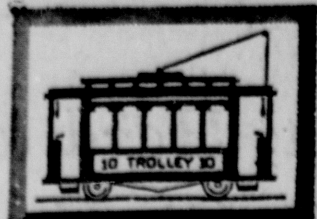

He said, "We are miles away on agreement" on NATO issues and that the several groups studying the various aspects of NATO problems will make recommendations of their findings to Congress in the hope of aiding and accelerating a satisfactory agreement between NATO nations.

In addition to Quie and Chamberlain, members of the committee who met with Eisenhower were Alexander Pirnie, New York; Paul Findley, Illinois; Ross Adair, Indiana; Gerald Ford, Michigan; James Cleveland, New Hampshire; John Baldwin, California; Hartings Keith, Massachusetts; Charles Goodell, New York; Rogers Morton, Maryland; and Robert Ellsworth, Kansas.

They arrived at the Eisenhower offices on Carlisle St. at 11:30 and were served a catered luncheon in the conference room before commencing the NATO discussions.

CHILD SLAYER MENTALLY ILL

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Under the recommendation of a coroner's jury, a machinist charged with murder in the deaths of his three children would be confined to the Farview State Hospital for the Criminally Insane until he is able to face grand jury action.

The recommendation was made Friday in the case of George Vidovich, 35, of suburban Etna, after an inquest at St. Francis General Hospital where Vidovich has been since Nov. 4.

On that date his son, George Jr., 14, and Richard, 9, and daughter, Joanne, 11, were found dead at their home. George Jr. had been stabbed; the other two children strangled.

Dr. Hugh Shavren testified Vidovich was mentally incompetent, and two detectives described incidents surrounding the deaths and Vidovich's arrest.

Vidovich did not testify. His wife, Jean, 32, is undergoing treatment for tuberculosis in another hospital. With her in the hospital, authorities said they believe Vidovich may have been worried over the children's care.

By-Elections And Banned Book Stir British
By Jim Hill

By JIM DAN HILL

LONDON — For the first time in Britain's long, parliamentary history a peer has "stood down" from the House of Lords to be elected to the House of Commons in order that he may do an adequate job as prime minister.

True in history there have been sundry barons, viscounts, earls and even a few dukes who while sitting in Lords, have been effective prime ministers. But not in recent years. That is why Winston Churchill rejected time and again all suggestions that he be elevated. Moreover it is only within the past two years that a man was allowed to renounce an inherited, or otherwise acquired peerage, that he no longer wanted, hence the unprecedented aspects of the present situation.

OUT OF THE House of Lords, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, as they now call the erstwhile earl had to gain entry to the House of Commons through a by-election to fill a vacant seat representing a rural district in Scotland. At the same time a membership in Commons for Luton, an industrial constituency, was up for grabs.

In Scotland, the combined opposition threw the book at Sir Alec on the thin chance he might thus be disqualified for becoming the new prime minister, and certainly to force him into statements that might be used against him in the future. He capitalized the situation for favorable, nationwide publicity to self and party to win the seat easily. In Luton with equal publicity and equal ease, the Labor Party won.

Actually, the two by-elections involved a total of less than eighty thousand ballots. They are of no more national, statistical significance than would be the case in America where there are two simultaneous special elections to fill as many vacant congressional seats for districts as different and as far apart politically as Upper Michigan and Houston, Texas.

IN SHORT, though the figures and facts from the two by-elections are meaningless, all the pundits, prophets and politicians on both sides are happily optimistic, which within itself, is news.

Meanwhile, under the Obscene Publications Act of 1959, "Fanny Hill, the Memoirs of a Woman of Pleasure," is being suppressed again. About 250,000 copies, paperbacks, to sell for 40 cents each, are at issue. An English court will read again the time-worn opus and hand down the final verdict.

"Fanny" has been in and out of the English courts since 1749 when a hack writer named John Cleland frankly told a frowning judge that "Fanny" he had sold his mediocre talents because he needed the money.

I FIRST HEARD of the novel while a senior at Baylor University. Prof. Caskey considered it a lesser milestone in the evolution of the English novel, and the reasons why, but with 30 other long novels on his required reading and written reports list I do not recall that any member of the seminar so much as checked to see if "Fanny" was in the library.

Years later I came across an allegedly unexpurgated edition. Most of it is as dreary as a foggy day in December. There are some passages of compassion and understanding I do not recall a single paragraph that, for needlessly obnoxious words and terminology, in any way rivals some of the recently highly acclaimed "realism" dedicated to an unconvincing cast of strictly abnormal and unrealistic characters.

Under the counter copies of the 40 cent "Fanny" are now being sold here for two pounds ($5.60). Lord Denning's official report on Miss Keeler, et al., is a better buy at 7s. 6d. ($1.05).

NEW YORK (AP) — Keith Fuston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, says the United States should trade consumer goods with the Russians "if we get cash on the barrel head or its equivalent."

Fuston and several other American business leaders returned to New York Thursday night from the Soviet Union, where they talked with Premier Khrushchev. "The Soviets don't have very many goods that we want," Fuston told newsmen. "We should sell them consumer goods. If we can get their gold in return they will not be able

San Blas Island Saga—Part 3

This year Peter Miller, a San Blas Indian educated in the United States, thanks to the good work and faith of an American missionary and a gospel singer, was honored by his alma mater, Vennard College, for the work he has done since returning to his home island of Aliagundi off the coast of Panama. He still lives there and, with his son, runs a Southern Baptist mission. There are 1,500 Indians on the tiny island.

At first Peter taught in a mission school, but soon he felt this was not enough. Since the San Blas dialect had no written language, Peter, using a simplified alphabet of only 17 English letters, wrote the words of God in the Indian dialect.

Since 1956, Peter has devoted his full time to translating the New Testament, working both from Spanish and English texts. He has translated the Gospel of St. Mark and John, the Book of Acts and Romans, and 170 hymns. He is also working on translating seven other books, thus keeping alive the faith of the devout women who first believed in him.

Ministers Help Parolees Adjust

FRANKFORT Ky. (AP) — Dr. Fred Moffatt uses the religious approach to help rehabilitate parolees who were first offenders.

As executive director of the Kentucky Parole Board, he writes to the convict's clergy-

Moffatt says "From the replies I receive I am sure they are following through, assuring the parolee and his one friend waiting for him."

New York Subways Cover 236 Miles

NEW YORK (AP) — New York's subway system covers 236.7 miles of track, with 482 stations. Subway operations were started in October 1904, with a nine-mile route from City Hall north to 42nd Street and Lexington Ave. thence west to Broadway, and ending uptown at 145th St. and Lenox Ave. In the 12 months ending June 30, 1962, the subways carried 1,369,507,594 passengers.

A survey reveals there are some 4,000 photographic clubs within the West German school system.

DELONE PARTY NOVEMBER 23

Plans were furthered for the first of the four public parties to be held under the sponsorship of the Delone Catholic High School PTA at a meeting of the executive board Thursday evening in the faculty room of the school. The party will be held November 23. Willard Sterner and Joseph Price are chairmen. The Senior class will be in charge of the prizes, etc., for the first party, with Senior class officers, home-room representatives and their parents acting as a steering committee. The class officers include James Redding, Philip Klunk, Peter Smith, Larry Wagaman, Thomas Breighner.

Parents have been asked to send prizes, cakes, candy, pies and to assist at the party.

The president announced that the members of Sacred Heart parish, Conewago, will assist in the cafeteria next week: St. Joseph's, Hanover, December 1 through January 3, and St. Vincent de Paul, Hanover, January 6 through 31.

Members of these parishes who will assist during the lunch hour at the high school on the dates specified are asked to notify their representatives on the executive board.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, December 12.

FROM THE VILLAGE

NEW YORK (AP) — Sylvia Miles is a New York girl who has taken plenty of time, reaching her first Broadway role.

Miss Miles, set to appear in "The Riot Act" with Dorothy Stickney and Ruth Donnelly, was born in Greenwich Village and has concentrated her career activities in that area. Twenty-seven productions — spanning the works of Chekhov, O'Neill and Genet — have employed her skills.

In October 1963, Ostersund, a lakeside city in central Sweden reported its first lemming invasion since 1939.

Players Modify Hitler Drama

LONDON (AP) — A political melodrama with a sensational plot — the return to power of Adolf Hitler — has arrived on London's stage without the fanfare created by its television version last year.

"Night Conspirators," written by German-born Robert Muller, has the Nazi dictator return from hidden exile in Iceland. When done on TV, the German embassy protested, but this time comment was limited to somewhat mixed appraisals by the critics.

Attic Of Late Wealthy Sportsman Is Found Full Of Clothes And Shoes

By MARGARET SCHERF
Associated Press Staff Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Like most women, Violet Bidwill Wolfner cherished clothes.

But unlike most women, she could look at dresses by the thousand just by going to her attic.

Judging from the clothes hoard found at the late wealthy sportsman's home in suburban Wilmette, Mrs. Wolfner did little more than look at her fantastic wardrobe.

Many of the more than 1,000 dresses and coats were unworn, their tags—sized 12 to 16—still in them. Dozens of the 1,500 pairs of shoes never were taken from their boxes.

Gowns bearing such labels as Dior and Pauline Trigere never were unpacked from the tissue paper in which they were delivered.

THRILLS WOMEN

Hundreds of Chicago women were having a window-shopping spree Friday and today as they jammed an auction gallery to examine the wardrobe, which will be sold next week.

The wardrobe is part of a $3-million estate left by Mrs. Wolfner, who died in January 1962. Mrs. Wolfner's first husband was Charles W. Bidwill, owner of the Chicago Cardinals football team that later became the St. Louis Cardinals. He died in 1957, and in 1949 she married Walter Wolfner.

Friends of Mrs. Wolfner say she went out seldom and did little entertaining.

In addition to the dresses, coats and shoes are several hundred hats, more than 100 negligees, several hundred purses and pairs of gloves.

Some of the clothes date back to the 1920s. They are in perfect condition, as is everything in the wardrobe.

CHANGE PRISONS OF SIX YOUTHS

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Six youths have been sentenced to tighter-security prisons after a supervisor at Glen Mills reform school testified they attacked him.

The supervisor, Daniel Hughes, 32, testified Friday before Judge Theodore O. Spaulding, in County Court's juvenile division, that one of the youths tried to choke him and the others did extensive damage to furnishings on Oct. 22.

Two of the youths broke out, but were apprehended later by State Police. They are Norman Brown, 16, who was sentenced to the state correctional institution at Camp Hill for an indefinite term and Tawn Mills, 15, who was remanded to the state correctional institution at Dallas for an indefinite term.

Judge Spaulding sentenced the others to terms varying from three to six months at Pennypack House.

a youngster, the bell was stored in the museum on the top floor of Glatfelter Hall. He also recalled a tragic incident that began as a prank when several students tried to remove the bell from the museum. One of the students, a member of the class of 1895, sustained internal injuries that later caused his death.

Col. Thomas Nixon, another local resident, also remembers the bell. He is of the belief that the bell was used in the clock tower of Glatfelter Hall before the present bell was installed.

BELL WILL TOLL

Bikle is the son of the late Dean Philip M. Bikle and Col. Nixon the son of the late Dr. Henry B. Nixon, mathematics professor. The Bikle and Nixon families lived on the campus in the early 1900's and occupied a double house where the present library stands. This house was vacated by the campus families in 1914 and converted into a dormitory for men and named Cottage Hall. It was razed in 1929 to make way for the first unit of the present library.

Chaplain Vannorsdall announced this week the bell will be rung 10 minutes before weekday and Sunday chapel services. The bell will toll three times during the Lord's Prayer at every chapel service.

TED KENNEDY SCORES BARRY

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP)—The Kennedy political family has made its first direct attack on Sen. Barry M. Goldwater of the Republicans.

Democratic Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, the President's younger brother, spoke Friday night at a party fund-raising dinner.

Beside hammering at Goldwater and praising President Kennedy's domestic and foreign policies, the new 35-year-old senator from Massachusetts made a hit with the women.

Squeals of delight came from women in the audience as Kennedy, in a boyish haircut and navy blue suit, strode to the speaker's table.

Kennedy, making his first political speech outside his home state, said the Democrats would run for election next year on a record of economic recovery, price stability, and economy and efficiency in government.

He did not identify Goldwater by name. However, his allusion was unmistakable.

Up to this time none of the Kennedys had made any direct assault on Goldwater.

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

THE DILL FAMILY GRAVES
The genealogical study of the marked graves of the Dill family in that section of the present Dillsburg Public Cemetery that was, in the early days, the burial ground of the Monaghan Presbyterian Church, is continued at this time.

8. Dr. Armstrong B. Dill (born 1835 - died 1887) - complete inscription from grave marker given last week.

Note: - Dr. Dill's tombstone states that he was a son of "Matthew and Hannah Dill." Colonel Matthew (2) and his first wife, Jean (Bracken) Dill, were the parents of a son, Armstrong (2) Dill, who was also a physician. This young man, who was born in 1761 and died in 1788, was a graduate of Princeton College (now Princeton University). This rather confuses the issue but the Dr. Armstrong Dill mentioned above was probably a great-grandson of the first Matthew. Nothing more is known pertaining to him.

OUTLIVED HUSBAND

& "In memory of - Emma J. Dill - wife of - Dr. Armstrong B. Dill - Born September 16, 1845 - Died November 9, 1921."

Note: - The wife of Dr. Armstrong B. Dill outlived her husband by some 24 years, but, when death finally came she was buried beside him in the Dill family burial plot.

10. "In memory of - Matthew Dill - Born June 15, 1790 - Died December 1, 1868 - Aged 78 years, 5 months - and 16 days."

Note: - Probably the son of Ensign Matthew (3) Dill, a soldier of the American Revolution, the son of Colonel Matthew (2) and Jean (Bracken) Dill. In other words the Matthew Dill mentioned above would be the fourth male, in direct line, to bear the given name of Matthew.

Matthew (4) Dill and his wife, Hannah Dill, were the parents of the Dr. Armstrong B. Dill, whose grave was noted in the first part of this column.

HANNAH DILL

11. "Sacred - to the memory of - Hannah Dill - the wife of - Matthew Dill - Born July 27, 1804 - Died March 29, 1878 - Aged 73 years, 8 months - and 2 days."

Note: - The wife of the man who was probably the fourth Matthew Dill and the mother of Dr. Armstrong B. Dill - who is buried near his parents in the family burial plot.

12. "Sacred - to the memory of - Armstrong B. Dill - son of - Dr. A. B. and E. J. - Dill - Born April 19, 1881 - Died September 30, 1881."

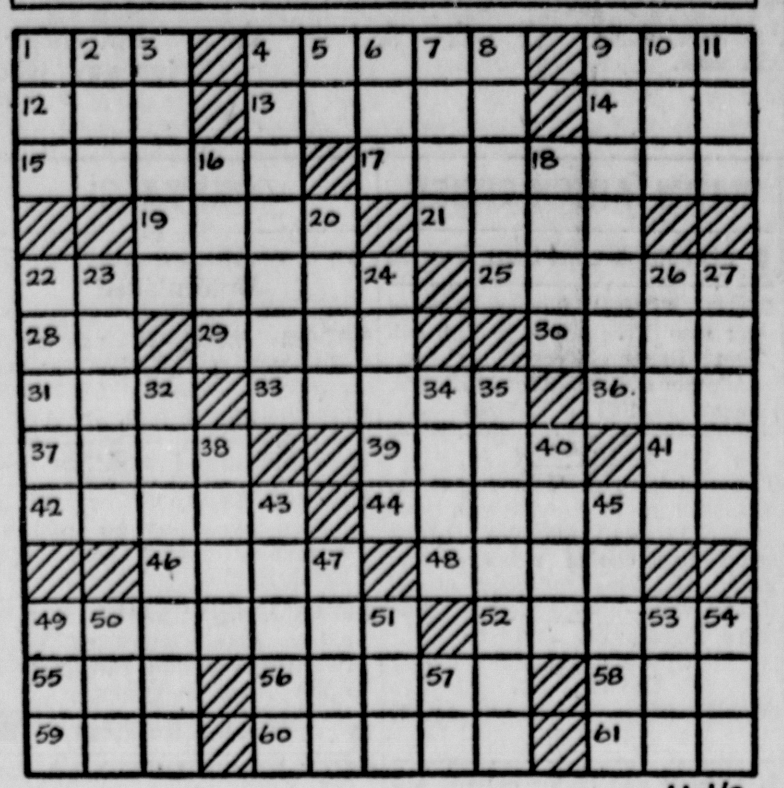

Note: - This stone practically speaks for itself and needs very little explanation. The baby son of Dr. Armstrong B. and Emma J. Dill, who was named for his father, had a life span of only a little over five months. He died some six years before his father's death.

So little is known of this branch of the Dill clan tree - Dr. Armstrong B. and Emma J. Dill may have had other children or the little boy, mentioned above, may have been an only child, in which event his death would have been a double tragedy.

NO CLUE TO PARENTS

13. "In memory of - William J. Dill - Born August 5, 1833 - Died September 1, 1872 - Aged 38 years, 10 months - and

Clergymen Start Hunger Strike In Southern Jail

By ALLEN PAUL

Associated Press Staff Writer
WILLIAMSTON, N.C. (AP)—Fifteen white clergymen from the North, their leaders carrying wooden crosses, braved an angry white crowd and led an anti-segregation march here Thursday. They were jailed and began a hunger strike.

In the first of two demonstrations in this farming town of 6,000, the Northerners and 54 Negroes, including 22 under 16 years of age, were arrested.

Twenty-four Negro teen-agers then marched on the courthouse but they dispersed and there were no arrests.

SPECTATORS LINE STREETS

White spectators, some yelling threats, lined the streets for three blocks near the courthouse for the first march. The house for the first march. The house for the first march. The house for the first march.

The Rev. Harvey Cox, a professor at Andover-Newton Theological Seminary in Massachusetts, and the Rev. David King, minister of a Congregational Christian Church in Amherst, Mass., led the march, carrying four-foot crosses.

The other ministers followed, each walking hand-in-hand with a Negro girl. Negro demonstrators lined up behind them. They were met by Sheriff Raymond Rawls, who ordered the procession to the upstairs courtroom.

The marchers were booked on charges of unlawful assembly, parading without a permit, and of obstructing traffic.

REFUSE TO POST BONDS

Police said they would also be cited to show cause why they should not be held in contempt of a Superior Court restraining order banning demonstrations in the downtown area.

The New Englanders refused to post bonds of $500. All refused their evening meal. The Rev. Paul Chapman of Staughton, Mass., said some of the Northerners would fast until their hearing Dec. 6, "as an act

SYSTEM DENIES CONGRESSMEN "FREE FRANCS"

By STANLEY MEISLER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - There is a persistent myth on Capitol Hill that a congressman can spend U.S.-owned francs galore in Paris and not cost the American taxpayer a cent. The facts dispute this. But the myth goes on.

When criticism stormed around Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, for taking House restaurant waiter Ernest Petinaud alo on a trip to Paris last week, the congressman replied: "Ernest cost the taxpayers $88 in counterpart funds, which can't be used otherwise, so it actually cost nothing."

When Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., was criticized roundly for taking two young staff ladies along on a trip to Paris last year, the congressman replied that if they hadn't spent the francs, the government would have had "to put a match to them."

At one time, the myth was true. During the days of the Marshall Plan, in the late 1940s and early 1950s, the United States sent great amounts of economic assistance to Europe. European countries paid for this by depositing their own currencies in U.S. government bank accounts. They were called counterpart funds.

These currencies, which were held in huge amounts, could not be transferred. They had to be used in the European country. U.S. embassies in France and other European countries had far more counterpart funds each year than they needed for their housekeeping operations. So, when a traveling congressman arrived and picked up counterpart funds, he was using currencies that probably wouldn't have been used otherwise.

But times have changed. Today Europe no longer receives the huge amounts of economic assistance that it did during Marshall Plan days. Too, it receives little under the U.S. program of distributing surplus farm commodities, another system that brings foreign currencies to U.S. accounts.

U.S. officials say that the embassy in Paris takes in fewer counterpart funds each year than it needs for American operations in France. So, when a congressman travels to Paris and uses these funds, he is spending money that the embassy has to replace.

And the embassy replaces it by French francs with American taxpayer dollars. Hays was unavailable for comment. His office said he had started driving to his home district in Ohio.

McPheeter's Villain

Doesn't Want To Scare The Kids

"I hope we scare just the grownups, I really don't think we fool the kids," says James Westerfield (right) in character for his "Travels of Jaimie McPheeters" role as he plots more dastardly deeds with fellow rascal, Sandy Kenyon.

By RUTH E. THOMPSON
"I try to be the kind of villain who'll scare the adults but won't fool the kids," says James Westerfield who tried to play the dastardly John Murrel of "The Travels of Jaimie McPheeters" (ABC-TV, 7:30 Sunday evenings)

"a little larger than life," and since Westerfield weighs 250 pounds himself . . . well! It was television which brought him to villainy in the first place. He'd always missed out being a bad guy in his long stage and screen career. Then came television and among his 500 roles was "Long John Silver." Ever since, he's hoped "that somebody would write me a two-legged John Silver . . . at my size hopping around with one foot tied in back of me wasn't too easy." And now . . . except for being land-locked, which matters not a whit to him, he has his wish in the McPheeters series based on Robert Lewis Taylor's Pulitzer Prize novel. NOT TOO RUGGED

While it's a little less rugged than the Westward trek of the 49-ers, Westerfield has a not-too-easy cross country saga of his own. The Tennessee-born actor got the show business urge early because "my father was a barnstorming actor, you see." Then the family settled down in Michigan while James was still young and his father went into the candy business . . . but the younger member was dedicated to carrying on.

So, right after high school in the depression days of 1935, he hitch-hiked to Hollywood. It took close to four weeks. He arrived with "$1.05 in my pocket and right away spent 35 cents for a theater magazine."

With the remaining 70 cents in his pocket he landed a "job associated with the theater," delivering handbills. It paid $2 a week — and that just took care of room rent. For food he had to depend on over-ripe avocados and grapefruit destined otherwise for discard. (Maybe a reason why today he's known as a superb cook?)

WALK-ON PART
Luck followed diligence, though, and he got a walk-on part and a rave review ("because somebody from Michigan was in the audience and he wrote it with as much enthusiasm as if I were a star. I won't say I was just carrying a spear, because I wasn't. But as a reporter, I was carrying a pencil and that's about all I did in that show," Jim grins).

But that part also got him past the threshold of Pasadena Playhouse and in the next two and a half years he appeared in 54 plays with such fellow students as Victor Jory, Dana Andrews and Robert Preston. It was 1940 before his first movie bit part ("The Howards of Virginia") and 1954 before he made his notable splash in "On The Waterfront." The lag, however, was not entirely Hollywood's fault. Westerfield just wasn't in Hollywood much. He was absorbed in the stage, and not just acting.

HAD COCKY MOMENT

Though he worked seriously at his craft, he went through one expensively cocky moment. His merry face crinkles upward as he recalls it. After one nice break he duded up in a homburg hat and kept an appointment with a producer who wanted Westerfield to take the understudy role for the late Paul Douglas as the millionaire junk dealer in the great Judy Holliday comedy "Born Yesterday." "My head must really have swelled into that homburg because with great arrogance I

LAUGH LINES

Polysyllables for Pop? Working along with his sons on a recent "Andy Griffith Show" Rane Howard gave his four-year-old, Clint, some pictures to color between takes. One of them was a parrot and Rane helpfully suggested they name it "Polly." Clint seemed puzzled at the brevity and then asked, "Don't you mean polynaturated?"

Explaining on a recent television program that she thought the producer was talking about Clark Gable, Fay Wray says she accepted a famous role because "they said I'd be playing opposite the tallest, darkest leading man in Hollywood." She did, King Kong.

Observes Woody "Who Do You Trust?" Woodbury, "For every woman who makes a fool out of a man, there's another woman who makes a man out of a fool."

NAME'S THE SAME

Actor Joel Crothers is the son of Dr. George Crothers, host of the religious series, "Lamp Unto My Feet."

FRANKIE REMLEY

Elliott Lewis, who played the ever-thirsty guitarist on the old "Phil Harris Show," is one old-timer nobody need worry about. He's currently executive producer of Lucille Ball's "The Lucy Show!"

GOOD RECORD

Lorne "Bonanza" Greene founded the Academy of Radio Arts in Canada in his days as an announcer. He reports, of the 400 graduates, 98 per cent are still in the business today.

said, "James Westerfield understudies no man!" Then I couldn't find another good job all that year!"

However, reverting to his true self, he got busy again and branched into producer-director, entrepreneur facets as well as acting. He earned the Donaldson Award for his performance in the musical, "Swing Out Sweet Land" and two Critics' Awards (for "The Mad Woman of Chailott" and for "Detective Story"). He also founded the now-famed Los Angeles Greek Theater and Vancouver's "Theatre Under the Stars." And in Danbury, Conn., in 1950 he was in on the organization of the first musical theater-in-the-round. He has also produced and directed New York City Center operas.

LOVE THEM ALL

"Now from what we've been talking about, you're going to think I don't like acting, that I don't like television and that I don't like Hollywood. Whereas I love them all."

He can sure back up his statement. He thumbs-downed a chance to step into Rudy Vallee stage role in "How To Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" to go into "McPheeters." "I think," he says "this John Murrell is a really lovable rascalion . . . even if he can always twist a Biblical quotation to suit his own purposes."

"And though I have a nephew I love dearly, I hope he won't hate me for saying Kurt Russell is the most outstanding child I've ever met. Bats 500 in the Little League, you know. His father, who's an actor, doesn't want him cursed by the 'stage child' stigma. I once heard him reprimand Kurt for using a dirty word. 'Don't ever say that again,' he admonished. You'll never guess what the dirty word was. It was 'my career!'"

GET ALONG WELL

"We get along so well, and have so much fun, it took Kurt a little adjustment when we went into character. He finally said, 'That's right, now I remember, I'm not really supposed to like you!'"

How does Westerfield feel about working with a scene-stealing child? Heck what's to worry about. Furthermore somebody once said of him, "Look out for children, dogs and Jim Westerfield." "It's not me," he giggled, "it's the eyebrows!" You take a look. He's got something there, bushy and dark they don't want to seem to lie flat against a forehead at all as eyebrows usually do, rather they shoot out an inch or so in places at right angles like eyelashes.

What are his immediate future plans? Well, two days after Christmas he and actress Faye Tracey celebrate their first wedding anniversary. Then when shooting winds up "I hope to do a short run at last of 'Born Yesterday,' for — of all people — the same director who gave me my first role carrying a pencil."

1955 Thunderbird Goes To Museum

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Museum's latest acquisition has gone into mothballs until history catches up with it.

It is a lemon yellow, two seat, 1955 Thunderbird, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lucas of Milwaukee.

Robert Lietz, museum history assistant, said the gift is a bit premature but that the auto will be exhibited eventually as one of America's first post World War II sports-type cars.

Trained Falcons Pursue Rare Birds For Sportsmen

By TOM FAWCETT

DUBAL, Trucial Oman (AP) — The ancient art of falconry is still popular among the wealthier people of Trucial Oman on the rim of the Arabian peninsula.

It is a pastime for those with money. If more than one falcon is kept, there is not only the cost of feeding the birds but also maintaining a team of handlers, one to each falcon. They care for the birds and carry them during the actual hunt.

A trained falcon is valuable and much care and attention are lavished upon it. Fresh meat is the staple diet and, although food may be withheld immediately before hunting, any loss of weight is regarded as a serious setback. The optimum is two pounds, eight ounces.

INTENSIVE TRAINING

The falcons are given intensive training. A lure made of a pair of bustard wings is tied to a string and pulled through the air. The falcon is released to fly at the lure. A piece of meat is fixed to it to reward the falcon when it strikes.

The falcon is hooded on a hunting trip until just before it is put up to look for quarry. If it remained unhooded its attention would be distracted by anything moving, to the detriment of the hunt.

The chief game bird in the Trucial Oman is the bustard. An adult bustard may weigh up to 12 pounds and is excellent eating, something like turkey. It is fast on the wing and difficult to locate. Its sand colored plumage and ability to sit absolutely still makes it almost invisible except to the falcon.

On the first bustard hunt of the season we arrived on the Sia al Ghareef, one of the largest of the interior plains of Oman, at 8 a.m. after a three-hour drive from Dubal over a belt of soft sand.

Before us lay a wide, flat plain, rolling away as far as the eye could see. The plain is home to the Beni Chitab tribe, of Bedouins, whose knowledge of it is unrivalled. They are the best sources of information on the movements of game.

TRACK BUSTARDS

A Bedouin told us that the previous day he had seen two bustards and the tracks of a third. For a small payment he agreed to show us the place.

There were four falcons with us, each carried by a handler. As we bumped across the plain the handlers and the Bedouin kept looking at the ground for tracks.

After about a mile and a half the Bedouin held up his hand. We stopped and got out. It was just possible to see, on the hard, gravelly soil, the faint imprint made by the three-toed foot of a large bustard. How the Bedouin managed to see it from a car traveling at 20 miles an hour was a mystery.

One of the falconers removed the hood of his falcon and let the bird examine the surrounding country. There was no reaction so the falconers and the Bedouin set off to follow the track.

When new prints were found at the edge of a dry river bed the falcons were held aloft once more. One of the birds took off. It flew for about half a mile and descended behind a large bush. At once a cloud of white feathers swirled into the air. A large bustard, its wings beating rapidly, rose from the ground.

FALCON ATTACKS

The bustard flew on for about a mile and then landed. The falcon planed down and attacked. A bitter battle ensued. The falcon tried to fasten its talons onto the bustard's neck. The bustard beat off the attack with its powerful wings.

Suddenly the bustard caught the falcon a tremendous blow on the head and staggered it. At once the bustard was off. In a few seconds it was too far away for another falcon to be sent after it. The falcon is fast, but it cannot catch a bustard if the latter has a good start.

It was not until the afternoon that we found an old Bedouin who had flushed a bustard as he was driving his goats. He came with us as we looked for tracks. In about 10 minutes three sets of prints were found. Suddenly one of the falcons took off and flew toward a small clump of bushes. The mode of flight showed that it had seen a game bird.

If a falcon sees a hare or any other animal running on the ground in a comparatively straight line, the falcon also flies in a direct line after the quarry.

In the case of a bird, which may suddenly take off in any direction, or may run from bush to bush, the falcon pauses and glides, from time to time, to see what the quarry will do.

The falcon suddenly swooped down behind a bush. A bustard rose and flew off, with the falcon in pursuit. The quarry decided to land again and fight. A mass of bustard feathers, borne on the breeze, formed a trail across the plain.

By the time the hunters caught up, the bustard was dead and the falcon had already begun to feed on it.

A falcon must be allowed to feed on part of its quarry, otherwise it wouldn't hunt. So, the falcon was allowed its first share.

HEROES OF SERIES

"The Jones Boys" described as "a half-hour comedy series" goes into production immediately for the 1964-65 season CBS Television Network, President James T. Aubrey Jr. has announced. Declaring he feels the theme, dealing with a crew of maintenance men "looks like a surefire television hit," Aubrey also says he feels the series "has the potential, too, for a full-length theatrical film using the characters and basic story concept of the television program . . . and we have started discussions on this aspect of the project, too."
